

While driving to work, he began to wish that he had an app that makes decisions for him. He believes it would relieve a lot of stress.